

MELISSA EDMUNDS

British International Female Inventor of the Year 2014.

Melissa Edmunds is the Managing Director of Zinch Designs Ltd and Inventor of Safesip®, a totally unique drink cover, suitable for almost any glass, mug, cup or can. SafeSip fits virtually any drinking vessel. It keeps your drink in and everything else out.

The main purpose is to prevent spills and protects drinks. Melissa Edmunds invented the product after her young son knocked over a drink in a restaurant.

Inspiration also came from her father who had been hospitalised. Melissa realised that a solution needed to be found that would stop drinks spilling and make life much simpler for those that have disabilities or need assistance when drinking.

Melissa was awarded the International EUWIIN Silver Inventors Award 2013.
