

Ms. Steinunn Ketilsdottir

Founder of Volcano Warmers & Business Performance Manager

Steinunn Ketilsdottir is an experienced management and Entrepreneur with strong and exceptional combination of people, change, leadership and creative problem solving skills. Born and raised in Iceland and lives in United Kingdom.

Steinunn has a passion for improvements, people's behaviour, new ideas and choosing new paths in life. Steinunn founded Volcano Warmers, to improve the quality of life for people that suffer from joint pain and swelling. A natural warmth healing for people to decrease joint pain and swelling either because of arthritis, sports injuries or other causes.

Steinunn has also a wide experience in different industry as a manager, management consultant, coach, assessor and lecturer in management techniques. Before and while she founded her own business she has worked with many leaders and employees in management practices to get better results. Directed HR department in an international company, was a manager of her own television series about the fashion industry in Iceland, editor of Management Review, Assessor for the European Quality Award, director of EFQM group in Iceland, a board member at KVENN, female inventors in Iceland.

Steinunn holds a Master of Science degree in Business Performance Management from Aarhus University in Denmark and has also developed many skills; quality, risk, marketing, communication and change management. Steinunn received Special Recognition Award from EUWIIN and Bronze Price from SUF 2011 for the invention of Volcano Warmers.

www.volcano-iceland.com

www.volcanowarmers.com